

Vegan/ Self-adhesive products from HERMA GmbH

We at HERMA GmbH do not use derivatives originated from animals in the manufacturing process of self-adhesive materials, neither as a raw material nor as an additive. To our knowledge derivatives originated from animals are not used at our suppliers either when developing raw materials for HERMA GmbH. However we do not have detailed information about all additives which are used by our suppliers. Therefore additives or process aids based animal extracts further up the supply chain cannot totally be excluded.

Furthermore HERMA does not use genetically modified organisms (GMO) in the manufacturing process of self-adhesive laminates neither as a raw material nor as an additive.

Animal experiments are not carried out by HERMA GmbH in the research and development work of our products. To our knowledge animal experiments are not run at our suppliers either when developing raw materials for HERMA GmbH.
